In late December there were no troops other than railroad service troops and police in Sinch'on (125-30, 38-21) (YC-1847). The local People's Committee was mobilizing civilians through the Fatherland Defense Committee to guard warehouses containing crops confiscated and collected by the North Korean government. There are warehouses at the following locations:

Number One, of concrete construction, 20 by 10 meters, containing 1500 straw sacks of rice, at the northern end of Sinch'on between the railroad and the highway.

Number Two, consisting of two cement buildings, holding 2000 sacks of rice each, inside Sinch'on marshalling yards.

Number Three resembles two ordinary large houses and holds 600 sacks of rice. The houses are about 30 meters east of the railroad and highway junction at Onch'on-ni (125-32, 38-21) (YC-2147) Hotspring near Sinch'on.
